Highway Hypnosis - Formula For Death

You may be one of the 56 Canadians who will die as a result of highway accidents this Labor Day weekend. And highway hypnosis will be a major contributing factor.

The Canadian Highway Safety Conference estimates four more people will die compared with the corresponding weekend last year.

CPL. ED. HICKMAN, acting NCO, Kelowna RCMP detachment, has joined traffic safety officials in appealing to motorists to exercise extreme caution this weekend.

Apart from the "drinking driver"—termed the worst menace on the road today—highway hypnosis is rapidly creeping up as No. 2 killer. Highway hypnosis is the numbing effect of the straighter thoroughfares on tired drivers.

Seven Recommendations

"A smooth highway running in a straight line to the horizon often makes a driver drowsy," Cpl. Hickman explained. "Monotony alone may relax him so greatly that he will wind up in the ditch before he regains his alertness."

CPL. HICKMAN made these recommendations to prevent fatigue accidents while driving:

1. Keep the car radio tuned to lively music.
2. Try to travel with at least one passenger and talk to him.
3. If a passenger is qualified to drive, let him "spell" you at the wheel.
4. Stop every two hours for a stimulating cup of coffee and a short stroll to stretch your legs.
5. Keep fresh air circulating in your car at all times.
6. If you are not thoroughly rested at the start of the weekend, stay at home.
7. And last, but by no means least, if you drive, don't drink. If you drink, don't drive.

RIFF-RAFF FLUSHED FROM NIGHT SPOTS

Montreal Police Open Greatest Crime Drive In City's History

MONTREAL (CP)—More than 100 persons were lodged in police cells today, flushed from night spots, sidewalks in an overnight sweep headed by Police Director J. Albert Langlois.

At the outset of the clean-up drive, Director Langlois snapped: "The riff-raff has been on our backs long enough. We intend combing them out of our hair."

Two-man squads in 25 radio cars swept through the city, questioning loiterers and suspicious characters, while the police director and Chief of Detectives Romeo Longpre directed the hunt from a command car.

Chief Longpre said those arrested, including three women, will be questioned today and "appropriate charges brought against them."

MAY RELEASE SOME
"It is possible a few will be released, but most were loitering and unable to give a satisfactory explanation of their presence in public places after midnight," said Chief Longpre.

"The pickups have given us a better idea of the types hanging around after midnight and a check on their identity."

It is believed some would be questioned in connection with recent holdups, burglaries and muggings.

Director Langlois commented: "Our beat patrolmen will be able to do their duty without fearing attacks when they're alone on the streets."

Two constables recently were beaten on an east-end street. A third had to fire his revolver to ward off attackers.

The roundup followed a crackdown early Thursday by Quebec Liquor Commission police on illegal drinking establishments.

A municipal police spokesman said the department hoped to net a number of persons sought for some time for questioning in unsolved crimes.

The spokesman said the roundup was directed by Police Director J. Albert Langlois, who was not available for comment.

It was not learned how many police participated.

But one police officer described the drive as "the largest I have ever seen."

At least 40 persons were brought in by one station alone. Several were women.

Police said some of those arrested were picked up in raids on private homes and establishments, but many were grabbed on the street.

Q.L.C. police Thursday swooped down on six "blind pigs"—clandestine drinking establishments—and arrested 48 men and eight women.

All but four pleaded guilty as keepers and foundlings when arraigned in court and fines totaling more than $2,200 were imposed. The fines ranged from $10 to $100.

Meantime, Quebec liquor police described the grapevine warning system of Montreal's underworld as being "as efficient as radar."

Police said they have known about the grapevine for years, but added it didn't reach its present degree of efficiency until the drive as "the largest I have

PARCHED VALLEY SOAKS UP RAIN

Tinder-dry forests and parched farm lands literally soaked up last night's rain—the heaviest recorded since May 31.

The all-night rainfall amounted to .31 inch, nearly double the total for the entire month of July, which was .19 inch. It was the first appreciable rain since July 28, when .14 inch was recorded.

Apart from the .33 inch of rain recorded on May 31, the three summer months have been the driest on record. Cooler weather and more rain is forecast.

Producers Deny Quiz "Rigged"

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Broadcasting Company and producers of the television quiz show Twenty-One deny accusations by a contestant that the program was rigged.

Herbert Stempel, who won $50,000 on the show, contended he was coached on the answers before he went on the air and then was told to miss a question that enabled Charles Van Doren to eliminate him.

Frank Hogan, New York County district attorney, confirmed Thursday that Stempel's testimony brought the show into the TV quiz program inquiry touched off by a complaint of a contestant on the Dotto show.

DENY CHARGE

Jack Barry and Dan Enright, producers of the Twenty-One show, issued a statement saying Stempel's charges were "entirely spurious and malicious."

NBC issued a statement simultaneously, terming the accusations "utterly baseless and untrue." The network said it learned of them more than a year ago and an investigation turned up nothing to substantiate them.

Later Pharmaceuticals, Incorporated, makers of Geritol, sponsor of the show, said it had not been aware of any complaints made about the program.

Hogan, nominated for the U.S. Senate this week at the Democratic state convention in Buffalo, said his investigation of TV quiz shows has uncovered nothing thus far to warrant grand jury action.

"I am convinced that we have a lot more digging before we can suggest anything serious here," he said, adding: "I don't think in dimensions not etched out in evidence."

RIGHT TO BE ANGRY
Television viewers, Hogan commented, "certainly have a right to be angry with the misrepresentations if what is suggested is true."

Hogan did not disclose what Stempel told him. But the latter has been quoted in newspaper stories as saying, after he won $50,000, he was ordered to miss a question "any schoolboy could answer."

Kelowna Housewives Protest Fire-Fighting Demonstrations

Residents in the north end of the city are up in arms over the fire demonstration carried out near the city yard Thursday morning.

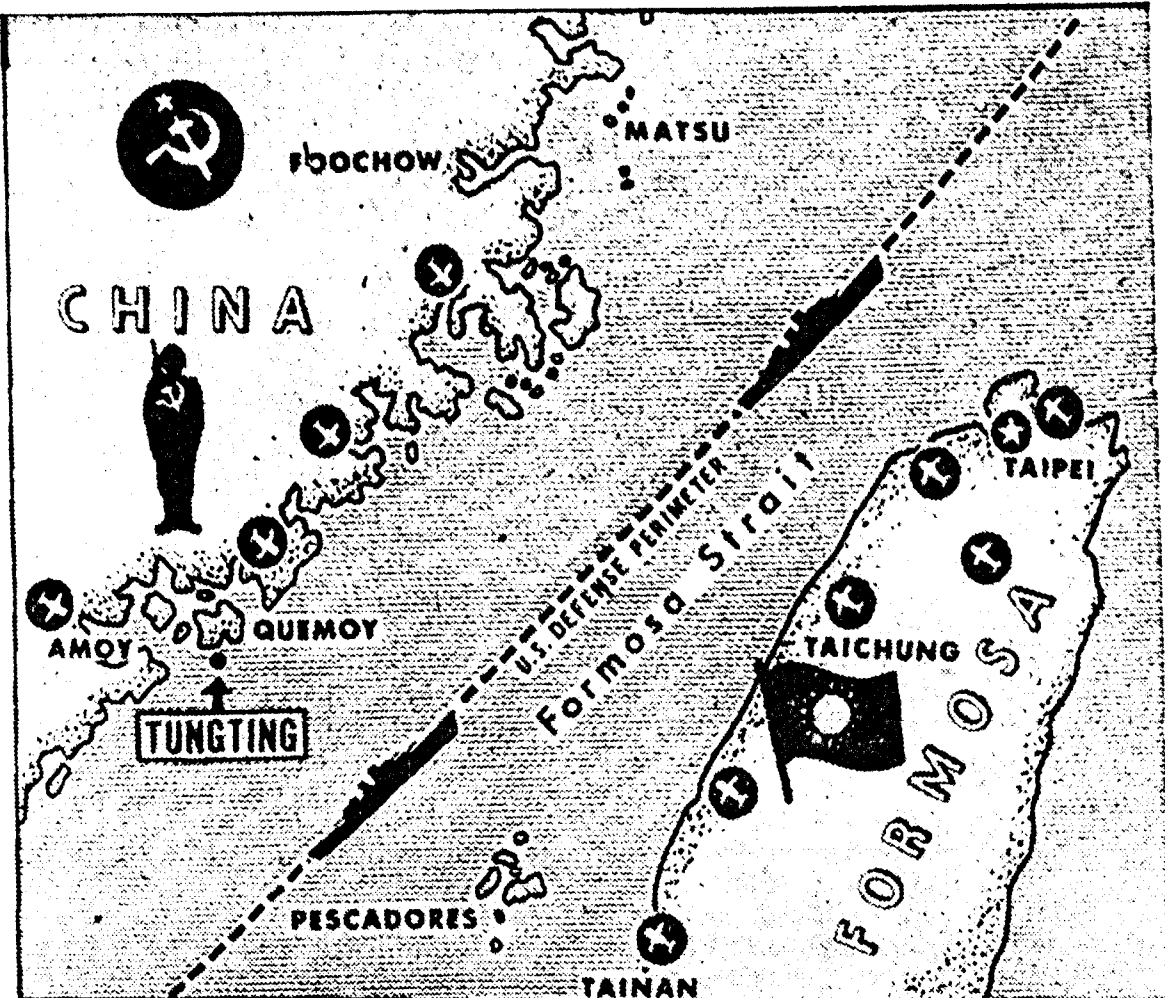

A torch was set to 500 gallons of inflammable liquid and later extinguished by latest fire-fighting methods.

One indignant woman informed The Courier that her entire wash was completely ruined, while her automobile, parked in front of the house, was covered with an oily film.

It is understood a petition currently is being circulated in the district, and that it will be presented to city council.

"I don't see why they could not have held the demonstration outside the city where there are no houses," the housewife declared.

Red Space Dogs Land Unharmmed

A renewed threat of war hovers over the Far East. The Nationalist Chinese have hinted they may bomb the Communist

Chinese mainland if the Reds attempt a major invasion of the Quemoy island group. The Nationalists are also fearful that the Communists may try to seize Tungting island, 17 miles south of Quemoy.

Court Suspends Integration Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The technically, on a shorter-range phase of the problem. But it was the underlying issue of racial integration in the public schools—and the role of Little Rock as a storm centre of that controversy—that focused attention on the Supreme Court proceedings.

Ranged on one side of the dispute were Thurgood Marshall, Negro counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and

At that time, the court will consider the basic question of whether there should be a 22-year delay in resuming racial mixing of pupils at Little Rock Central High School.

There was some question as to whether Central High will reopen before the new arguments are heard and the court acts. The hearing Thursday was,

Red Threats May Decide U.S. Moves

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials said today a new Peiping threat will weigh heavily in any decision by President Eisenhower on sending U. S. forces against any Red Chinese invaders in the Formosa Straits.

The state department was so impressed by Peiping's statement that it issued a hands-off warning to the Chinese Communists Thursday.

The United States is pledged by treaty to defend the big Nationalist island of Formosa and the nearby Pescadores Islands, about 100 miles across the strait from the China mainland.

IKE MUST DECIDE
Congress left it up to Eisenhower to decide whether any Red Chinese attack on Quemoy and Matsu, small islands closer to the mainland, was the start of an attack on Formosa and the Pescadores.

If Eisenhower decided it was, his next step could be to oppose it with the U.S. 7th fleet and other American military power.

This, in part, is what Peiping Radio said, as Red guns pounded Quemoy and Matsu in a continuing record bombardment.

"The Chinese People's Liberation Army is determined to liberate the fatherland's territory of Taiwan (Formosa) and the coastal islands."

ASK FOR SURRENDER
The radio called on Nationalist defenders of Quemoy to surrender, saying "the island is doomed . . . a landing is imminent."

U.S. officials said this is probably the toughest such statement yet made by the Chinese on this subject.

Hurricane "Daisy" Expected To Miss Maritime Coastline

HALIFAX (CP)—The weather office here said today hurricane Daisy is expected to veer eastward bringing gales and heavy rain to Nova Scotia but missing the rest of the Maritimes.

Daisy was reported sweeping north along the New England coast at between 25 and 30 miles an hour. It was expected to turn east-northeast and increase in forward speed later today.

Heavy winds and rain are expected to start in southern Nova Scotia early this evening, reaching Halifax about midnight.

The total quantity purchased by the canners at the current season price was approximately 50 per cent of last year's quantity.

Mr. Walrod explained that as the peach harvest is now rapidly nearing completion there appears to be little prospect of B.C. coming under a similar scheme to the one recently announced for Ontario.

Earlier in the year, the APSS, U. S. dollar bid 97 3-32; asked 97 5-32.

Rocket Flight Reaches 281 Miles Altitude

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said tonight two dogs have been landed safely from a space rocket that reached an altitude of 281 miles.

The broadcast said the dogs were aboard a one-stage geophysical rocket launched in the Soviet Union Aug. 27.

"Having reached this estimated height the rocket was landed in a precisely allocated sector," the radio said.

The rocket flight was part of experiments in the program for the International Geophysical Year. Apparatus for the study of the upper layers of atmosphere was installed in the rocket.

The dogs were enclosed in a special hermetically sealed cabin.

Total weight of the dogs plus the equipment carried by the rocket was 1,690 kilograms (3,725 pounds).

During the flight, the apparatus, including instruments to study the upper atmosphere, worked normally and ensured the supply of essential scientific data which is now being studied.

The U.S. Air Force announced July 24 that Wickie, a mouse launched in a Thor-Able missile, apparently was lost at sea after surviving a 6,000-mile journey through space.

The second mouse, Laska, was alive 32 minutes after being shot on its journey July 9. Instruments showed, experts said this probably meant she survived the journey but died when search for the missile's nose cone failed.

Large Scale Weather Change May Speed Hunting Season

VICTORIA (CP)—The possible postponement of British Columbia's hunting season may affect only a few of the game bird seasons.

A large scale weather change is expected and if it arrives within the next few days it will end the dangerous forest fire situation now existing in B.C. timberlands.

Officials said there appeared every chance that hunters will be able to get in a full season's shooting for all game with the exception of blue grouse, ptarmigan and pigeons.

The season for these birds was to have opened this weekend.

A spokesman for the forest service said the woods would be opened as soon as wet weather reduces the present high hazard to a safe and normal level.

Fuzzy Thinking Wants Bomb News Suppressed

Last week the executive of the Kelowna Board of Trade in the dying moments of a meeting held on a hot summer afternoon passed a resolution which we feel would never have been passed under other circumstances which encouraged even a little sane thinking.

The resolution deplored the "exaggerated" reports on the Doukhobor bombings in this newspaper and over CKOV, and asked that in future such stories be ignored or "played down." The argument was that the stories hurt the tourist industry here.

In effect, the resolution asked this newspaper and the radio station to play "ostrich" to hide our heads in the sand and to attempt to keep the people of this area in ignorance of what is going on.

In the first place, this newspaper seriously doubts that the Doukhobor bombings stories had adversely affected the local tourist industry seriously. There may have been a few, but a very few, who have avoided the district because of them, but all of these in our opinion had they come would not have affected the tourist business materially.

It is obvious that the sponsors of the resolution gave it no serious thought. Suppose, for instance, that this newspaper and the radio station agreed to go along with the wishes of the resolution and say nothing about the bombings. Do the sponsors of the resolution think for one minute that the story would not get out? If so, how naive are they? What do they think the newspapers and radio stations in Vernon, Penticton, and most certainly Vancouver would be doing with the stories? They would be playing it for all that it is worth and more, and in addition would make hay of the fact that there was no local coverage. The sponsors of this resolution should be realistic enough to face the facts and the fact in this instance simply is that a story of that type simply cannot be suppressed.

This newspaper resents the suggestion that it carried "exaggerated" reports. Our reports were not exaggerated in the slightest degree. Indeed, if anything, they were written with caution. The "scare" angle was played down and it could have been developed into a good story with a sound basis in fact. (Indeed such a story was written and discarded because of the "scare" factor.) In no case that we are aware of was a story in this paper either factually incorrect or exaggerated.

There is a human trait in each of us which makes us enthusiastic about news that praises us or boosts our business and equally dislikes news which does not praise us or does not boost our business. This is a very common trait and it is unfortunately true that most people fail to appreciate that there is bad news as well as good news and that there are some rotten cherries in the bowl of life. The good and the bad are both in the same bowl and this must be recognized.

A newspaper has a duty to its readers. They expect to advise them of the happenings of the day as factually as it can. Certainly should we bow to the Board of Trade resolution and refrain from publishing the fact that the Doukhobor terrorists are operating in this area, our readers and the whole populace of this area would have every justification for charging us with failure to convey to them news of vital interest to them. Do the sponsors of the resolution feel that it is not important for the people of the Okanagan to know that the Doukhobor terrorists are operating here? Surely it is important and vital news that a condition exists which warrants extra watchmen being placed on buildings? Do the sponsors of the resolution believe that it would be better if people did not know that bombs were found on a ferry, in hotels; that bombs have exploded in hotels and that one man was killed by the premature explosion of a bomb destined for goodness-knows-where in this area? Apparently the sponsors of the resolution think so but this newspaper very definitely is of the opinion that the public in the Okanagan have every right to be informed on these matters and that it is the duty of this newspaper to advise them.

Moreover the simple fact is that you just can't suppress the news and we challenge the sponsors of this resolution to devise some means whereby news can be suppressed, remembering too that it is not the publication here that hurts the tourist industry—if it does—but publication in the home of the tourist.

This newspaper surely does not need to plead that it feels kindly toward the tourist business. Its activities on behalf of tourism has surely been evident. It has boosted tourism in this area more than any other medium and certainly more than any other newspaper in this province. Members of its staff have spent their own time and own money in furthering tourist promotion activities. The fact, however, remains that if the Doukhobor bombing stories hurt the local tourist business it is unfortunate, but we did not make and plant the bombs. If it rains for forty days and forty nights, we will not have created the rain. But we will—we must—report it.

THE FOREST'S PRIME EVIL

IDEAL WEATHER

Harvesting Of Wheat Crop In Full Swing On Prairies

WINNIPEG (CP) — Combines and harvesting crews have turned western farms into hives of activity as the 1958 harvest, blessed by good weather, moves into high gear on most fronts.

June drought threatened wide areas of the West with a drastic cut in production, but late rains caused an amazing comeback by most grains. Now plenty of sunshine has ripened crops and allowed equipment to enter fields and start the harvest.

The Free Press says the weather has brought about the earliest harvest in many years.

Searle Grain Company forecasts a below-average wheat crop of 303,000,000 bushels. This closely approximates an estimate of more than 300,000,000 by W. C. McNamara, chief commissioner of the Canadian wheat board.

It compares with a 1957 crop of 332,000,000 bushels and a 1948-57 average of 485,500,000. Searle Grain also has estimated the following yields for other grains, with 1957 production and the last 10-year average totals in brackets: flax 21,200,000 bushels (19,700,000; 13,700,000); oats 216,400,000 (238,000,000; 275,500,000); barley 203,600,000 (213,000,000; 206,000,000) and rye 5,290,000 (6,300,000; 14,600,000).

Agricultural officials from the three Prairie provinces say the high quality of this year's crop is the outstanding feature.

At Edmonton, an agriculture department spokesman said, "The grain should be excellent... and farmers should see more No. 2 wheat than in a number of years if the weather holds."

BETTER THAN EXPECTED

At Regina, R. E. McKenzie, director of plant industry of the Saskatchewan department of agriculture, said, "The crop is a lot better than it should be for the rain we've had. The outstanding thing about the crop should be its high quality. Samples show grain looks good and is not shrunken. It should have high protein content due to dryness."

Harvesting in Alberta is general except for the dry northeastern districts and a section near Lacombe where crops are heavy and not quite ripe.

For the first time Alberta will not import farm labor for harvest operations. Farmers will depend on equipment. Similar situations exist in Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

H. R. Richardson of the Manitoba farm labor service said local and transient labor will more than fill farm labor demands.

"Primary reason for this, a situation which is general in the Prairies, is the light crop and excellent harvest conditions," he said. "Equipment will handle the bulk of the job."

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

By THE VENERABLE D. S. CATCHPOLE

THE CASE OF THE UNOFFENDING VICTIM

Far be it from me to blame people too much who fly into a rage and do silly things because they are offended. I can understand their being annoyed because I have often been in the same situation. What does beat me is "The Case of the Unoffending Victim."

For example, the Doukhobor, because he is offended by the law of the land and particularly by what is done in the Kootenay country, blows up power poles which disrupt electrical service in the Okanagan and in the homes of people who, until comparatively recently, have hardly heard anything about Doukhobors. It is all very well for these people to embarrass the government but why turn out the light in the home of innocent people who do not know the first thing about the laws which trouble the Doukhobors?

Then we have the continuous struggle between management and labor. One party locks out the other, or perhaps the one group strikes against the other. There are various resulting conditions coming from this continual battle. The conditions which bother me most are not the loss of income to the striking worker (that is his business) nor the loss of business to the firms which lock out their workers (which is their business) but rather the inconvenience and often the hardship which is visited by workers and management upon the innocent bystanders who are used by both parties to attain their own ends, and they care nothing for the poor who can barely get by on pension as it is, but they force up prices until these same innocent bystanders are driven to despair.

Yet again we have the Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang. He is usually an ardent fellow, works hard in whatever society it is to which he belongs, pays well and so on, until the day when someone offends him. Then what does he do? Does he call out the man who has offended him? Not at all. He quits. No matter whom he may inconvenience, he quits. He spreads ruin around him. He clobbers the wrong party. He confuses the general membership of the general public with the individual who has offended him.

All this reminds me of the suffragettes who, because they were angry with the statesmen who would not give them the vote, poured inflammable stuff into English pillar-boxes and destroyed the letters which they contained. I don't say there was no method in their madness, but I do say they were mad and extremely unkind to the general public whose letters they were destroying.

Personally speaking, I see no difference between Mr. Bang, the rather tragic young Doukhobor who blew themselves up, and the absurd suffragettes of years ago. Maybe they all had cause for aggravation but why take out their spite on people who never did them any harm? Perhaps "The Case of the Unoffending Victim" will one day be solved but I rather fancy that by the time we have the answer to that one we called, will have arrived.

For A Safe Holiday Weekend

More than 100 Canadians may be killed and thousands injured over the Labor Day weekend. Many of those who die and most of those injured will be the victims of automobile accidents.

The last long weekend this year will be the most dangerous and the following safety suggestions may be particularly valuable to those contemplating long trips over the holiday weekend.

1. Take long trips in easy stages; don't try to travel too far in any one day.
2. Avoid fatigue by stopping often for coffee or by changing drivers.
3. Avoid the main traffic arteries wherever possible.
4. If you are tired, but can't stop overnight, pull to the side of the road and cat-nap until you are rested.

5. When travelling with children, take plenty of books and quiet games so they will not create noisy distractions for the driver.

6. Study in advance the different driving rules of strange cities where you may be driving.

7. If you have a blowout or other mechanical failure, continue slowly until you can pull completely off the highway.

8. Set out flares when making repairs on the highway at night; don't block other drivers' view of your car lights.

9. When in doubt, yield the right of way to the other driver.

10. Keep your speed within safe limits, especially on wet highways.

"30" Marks End Of Story But Origin Controversial

In the patois of the press, and not —40— or —50—? A headline writer on the rim of a Philadelphia paper has one answer. He claims that —30— stemmed from the fact that 30 words was just the right fit in a stick of type—in the days when newspaper body type was also set by hand.

The editor of a Midwestern weekly disputes all of these stories. His claim is that —30— began with a columnist, who saw to it that each of his columns contained thirty items. And when this was done, he simply ended it with —30—, which gave notice to the composing room that that was the end of the piece.

Finally, in upstate New York, a cub reporter has this contribution. He maintains that the end mark in the early days of newspapering was "44". The mark is still used widely. However, when typewriters came along, reporters found that it was quicker to hit the "44" key without going to upper case. What came out was "3". To tie it up more neatly, they just added a "0". And —30— was born.

If all the —30— marks used by the nation's newsmen were laid end to end they'd probably circle the earth. But where did the thing really begin?

Birth Control Stand Welcomed

LONDON (CP) — Lambeth from the country's newspapers, The Manchester Guardian says birth control have received a warm reception from British newspapers.

"It is a bold, brave document," says The Daily Express. "It looks at the facts of life and offers real guidance."

This section of the report gets most of the editorial comment note.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WOMEN ARTISTS

Editor, Daily Courier.

Dear Sir: I would like to thank you for the publicity you have given in your paper of the 23rd to the Okanagan women artists.

But may I be allowed to point out a misunderstanding in the report of a remark I made in my interview. I said my desire was to capture and reflect the scene as it will appear to the majority of people so that they can enjoy it as I have done. It is said that I wished to capture some subtle or inside quality.

This is known as "atmosphere" and is something that can not be taught. If the artist can give this in his pictures they may be considered a success. I challenge the readers to see if they could find it in mine. I made no claim to this rare gift.

Yours sincerely,
HELEN M. DUKE

CIVIL DEFENCE

Editor, The Daily Courier.

Dear Sir: As the civil defence officer for Kelowna and district I would like to take this opportunity of thanking you for your excellent and very timely editorial of Friday, August 15, entitled "Time To Talk of Civil Defence."

Civil Defence Day will be observed throughout Canada on Friday, September 19, and I feel that many of our citizens will have your words in mind when they are again asked to take a more serious view of their attitude toward civil defence. The Kelowna and District Civil Defence Unit have at the present time a small but efficient nucleus of active members but the numbers are so few and the task so great that it would be very difficult to put into operation (should it become necessary) an efficient program for the reception of evacuees from the region or any other disaster area.

We are constantly told "why worry", should anything happen all good citizens will rally to your assistance. This is not good enough as the most important phase of civil defence is to be prepared.

Naturally in the designated target areas the general public are more interested in civil defence plans and preparations for their evacuation are well in hand. They are also being assured that if the worst should happen that they will be well cared for in the welfare reception areas. I cannot feel very happy to thank what could happen should these evacuees arrive at the ratio of 5 to 1 of our present population and we are not adequately prepared to receive them—it is possible that they might attempt to make the preparations themselves after arrival.

I think your use of the word "dither" is putting it very mildly. Yours very truly,
G. E. MORRIS,
Civil Defence Officer,
Kelowna and District.

SWIMMING POOL

Editor, Kelowna Courier.

Dear Sir:

I agree wholeheartedly with George Inglis' remarks about the need for a swimming pool in Kelowna.

Surely it would be better to get swimmers and divers to come to the Kelowna Regatta to win championships rather than have to import them to show us what can be done with year-round training.

There are many potential swimmers and divers living here, but unfortunately we lack the proper facilities to train them. A great deal of effort was made leading to the construction of Lake Okanagan bridge. I personally think if we put the same kind of effort behind a swimming pool, we would have it in no time.

Let us train our youth and give them not only a healthy sport, but the team and competitive spirit as well.

Yours truly,
K. R. YOUNG.

Westbank Packinghouse Handling Increased Tonnage With Closing Of Peachland Plant

By JOAN FRITCHARD

No area in the Okanagan Valley is growing and developing faster than the west side of the lake, that area bounded by and including Peachland on one side, and the Okanagan Lake Bridge on the other. And no where is there greater evidence of this growth than at the Westbank Co-operative Growers Packinghouse.

In 1950, when production in fruit-damaged orchards was very low, growers in the Westbank area struggled to keep their co-operative packinghouse and cold storage on its feet with an apple packout that totalled only fifty thousand boxes. This year the packout of apples alone is expected to go well over the hundred thousand box figure. The number of "W" peaches packed by this Westbank house is second highest in the entire valley. Last year the total of peach packs was 38,000. This year it will reach 70,000.

This increase cannot be credited entirely to increased production, although it is a fact that young orchards replacing those wiped out in the killing winter of 1949, are just now coming into bearing. Business at the Westbank Co-op has increased with the addition of tonnage from Peachland. With the closing of Walters Limited packinghouse in the lakeside peach centre, Peachland growers are trucking their produce to Westbank, and have helped to swell the total of growers at the Westbank Co-op from 60 last year to 111 this year.

INCREASE STAFF

Young orchards planted in the veterans' development of Lakeview Heights during the past ten years, are now contributing to the total tonnage in Westbank. With this fruit and the Peachland fruit, plums and prunes to be packed at the Westbank Co-op will show a fifty per cent increase this year compared with 1957, and apples a twenty per cent increase. Pears have leapt from a total of 18,000 to 25,000. Because mass production always tends to cut cost of production, Co-op growers are enthusiastic about the increase in volume of fruit passing through their packinghouse, aware that packing charges which are already competitive should

Kazui Taneda, packinghouse manager and Orville Charlton, plant superintendent in the near future be reduced even more.

The increase in business has made necessary an increase in staff. Workers are drawn from both the Peachland and Westbank areas. At last count, with a night shift operation necessary for peach packing, there were ninety people on the payroll. This year for the first time, the Westbank Co-op is providing field service. John Basham, a lifetime resident of Westbank, is filling the post of Co-op field man.

The man responsible for the smooth operation of the Westbank Co-op is one of the youngest packinghouse managers in the business. Kazui Taneda, himself the son of a Westbank orchardist, has been close to orcharding all his life. Now in his second year as manager, "Kaz", as he is known to friends, is capable and well liked, straight-thinking, enthusiastic about his job, and considered an "up and comer" in fruit circles. This season his enthusiasm encompasses "Bulk Handling" of fruit, a system copied from methods used successfully in New Zealand.

BULK HANDLING POPULAR

"Kaz" reports that growers are taking kindly to bulk handling. Because fruit can be harvested with greater speed using this method, it should be possible to harvest at greater maturity and still stay well within the fruit maturity period. He cites as an example one grower who harvested in only five days a pear crop that has taken up to ten days to get to the packinghouse in other years, and credits the speed-up to bulk handling.

Cold storage space goes farther, too, when fruit is stored in bulk handling bins. "Kaz" says that bins hold as much as twenty-five boxes of apples and use a good deal less storage space than the actual boxes. Bins are solid and sturdy, too, and will eventually eliminate entirely the problem of broken containers which plague a box operation.

Working with personnel from the Summerland Experimental Station, Westbank Co-op growers have been experimenting with bulk handling bins for peach harvesting. Peach bins are not so deep as those used for apples. Although results of the experiments have not been officially released yet, "Kaz" says that he thinks it will be possible to adapt the new bulk treatment to peach harvesting, without any more bruising of fruit than is brought about by old fashioned box handling.

Peaches on the west side of the lake ripen in convenient order, starting with orchards near the Okanagan Lake Bridge and working down the lake toward Peachland. At the moment of writing, the "V" peach harvest is well concluded in orchards near the bridge, almost concluded in Westbank, and just nicely getting under way in Peachland. Freaky weather has reversed the order of production this year, and growers have been astonished to discover that Bartlett pears were ready to harvest before peaches.

Looking to the future of the Westbank Co-op, "Kaz" Taneda is optimistic. "We've got plenty of cold storage space," he says. "Tonnage in years to come? 'I'll bet,' says 'Kaz', 'we'll be putting out a hundred thousand packs of peaches by next year or the year after! Apples? I won't quote figures, but the increase should be enormous!'"

Fire Losses From Defective Oil Burners Are Increasing

In a detailed summary of oil burning regulations and equipment, deputy provincial fire marshal H. K. Jennis said Thursday losses in fires caused by faulty oil burning equipment or operation has been steadily mounting along with the increase in the number of installations.

In 1950 the loss in 150 fires attributed to oil burners totalled $113,300 and two lives, and in the latest annual fire marshal's report, loss had risen to four lives and $226,800 in 171 fires.

Mr. Jennis said amendments to oil burner regulations and enforcement to firmly enforce the regulations have held the losses down.

He stressed that a person planning to install an oil burner or heater must be qualified to make the installation, must get a permit to do the job, and must be sure the equipment he is going to install has been approved by the fire marshal.

Permits are required regardless of where the installation is to be made, and there is no charge made for approvals, he said.

Mr. Jennis pointed out that under the amended regulations, and with suitable approval, storage tanks of up to 300 gallons may be installed inside a building, but it must have an oil-level indicator.

UBC Students Will Arrange Own Timetables Before Registering

An enrolment of 10,000 or more students—the highest in the University of B.C.'s history—is expected for the 1958-59 winter session beginning in September.

New procedures designed to speed up the registration process have also been announced by university officials. Under the new system students will arrange their timetables before they pay fees and complete registration booklets.

Officials have also worked out a number of standard programs to speed the registration of first year students. "In this way we hope to avoid timetable clashes and changes in courses after registration," an official said.

Officials in the registrar's office say they hoped the new system would eliminate the long lines and waiting periods which characterized registration in the UBC Armoury in previous years. We look forward to even closer co-operation with the festival next year."

A new high in summer school registration was established this year, according to figures released by UBC summer session officials.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Number of students taking courses leading to degrees increased 13 per cent over last year, according to summer session director Dr. K. F. Argue.

Total registration for academic courses was 3,954, an increase of 454 students over 1957.

Registration for non-credit courses in the summer school of arts was down slightly owing to a smaller number of short courses. Registration this year was 812 compared with 860 in 1957.

Extension department officials, who administer the summer school of the arts, said the 1958 school was the most successful in UBC's history.

Many of the artists participating in our summer school activities," said one official, "and

In other traffic cases, William L. Kozoris was fined $25 and costs on each of two charges, failing to remain at the scene of an accident and driving without due care and attention. His driver's licence was suspended for three months.

Henrick F. Berger was fined $15 and costs when, as a result of an accident, he was charged with not having a rear view mirror on his motorcycle. His driver's licence was endorsed requiring a rear view mirror.

Richard C. Peterson gave medical evidence that he blacked out in a fit of coughing just before a serious auto accident he was involved in at Richter and Elliott on August 3. A charge of driving without due care and attention was dismissed.

In other police court cases, Valentine A. Schwab and Larry C. Henderson were each fined $100 and costs or 30 days on a charge of theft of tires from the Imperial Oil plant on Ethel Street.

Rutland Park Has $200 Deficit On Swim Pool

RUTLAND — The Park Society executive met at the park pavilion to consider the situation now that the swimming season is drawing to a close.

It was found that the society was faced with a deficit of over $200, in spite of higher than usual receipts from the swimming pool memberships and admissions.

This situation was due largely to expenses in connection with installing a board floor in the shallow part of the pool, made necessary by the raising of the level of the water in the pool, and by the cost of painting the pool with white enamel paint for sanitary purposes.

Ways and means of raising additional funds were discussed, and it was decided to approve the sponsoring of a touring circus, which will be in Rutland Saturday, September 6.

A percentage of the receipts will be given to the Society for use of the park grounds. Arrangements were made for an executive meeting, Sept. 17, and a general meeting in October, to which representatives of all athletic and community organizations will be invited. This meeting will be held to consider winter programs, in the Society's role as Community Recreation Committee.

NEW NFL LINEMAN

Coach Douglas (Peahead) Walker likely will have one new lineman Saturday to plug the porous defence. He is expected to play Ed Rayburn, imported from the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League last week, at tackle.

Ottawa coach Frank Clair is making only one change from the lineup of last Saturday's game at Hamilton—lost by Ottawa 13-7—and that'll be the substitution of Tom Dimitroff for Hal Ledyard at quarterback.

Dimitroff, out this season with a sprained wrist, is expected to be in top shape for Saturday's game. If he fails, Clair still has talented Canadian Russ Jackson, just out of McMaster University to keep the Riders going.

Softball Champs Seek Provincial Diamond Honors

Two Kelowna softball clubs will be seeking provincial crowns this weekend, and both of them will travel for the chance.

The Super-Valu Aces, Okanagan Mainline champs, will be in Vancouver, Memorial Park, with Vancouver, Victoria and Cariboo clubs competing in their championship tourney.

Club 13, also Ok. Mainline champs, travel to Vernon's Alexis Park for the men's provincial tourney, opening against Hunderd Mile Timbermen, the pride of the Cariboo, at 1:30 on Saturday. Other clubs in their tourney include Kitimat, representing the Skeena district; Trail, from the Kootenays; and Ladysmith, the Vancouver Island selection.

Coach-manager Herman McArthur and his girls will leave for the coast tonight, and face their big test in the Vancouver ball park tomorrow, for the third straight year they have been in the provincial finals. In the past ten years, the Aces have been mainline champs six times out of ten, an enviable record.

The club's veterans, Mary Welder and Olive "Iron Arm" Pope, have been in the line-up every one of the times, and they are out to make their fourth straight attempt at a good one. Welder, a tower of strength in the infield and at the plate, will be looked to for some long ball clouts, an another veteran, Anita Stewart, this year's captain, will be one of the sluggers.

Pope, the club's strongest chucker, will have up-and-comer Stella Baran and a Pentiction girl helping her on the mound.

Jean Bazzana (nee Schneider), the peppery little backstop, is a good gal at the plate, and Lorna McLeod, just up from the Juniors this year, is one of the top bats on the base paths.

PITCHING STRENGTH
Joe Schneider, manager-coach of Club 13, will be looking to regulars Eugene Knorr, Lorne Gaulley and Bill Chobotar, to give him his pitching strength, backed up by a strengthener, Paul Kananik of Vernon Nick's Aces.

The club's tight infield will also be the long ball section, with Warren Hicks, 1st base and brother Wayne, short stop, supplying much of the power. Second baseman Pete Luknowsky has been one of the steady hitters this season, and third baseman Joe Welder lays down some nice place hits.

In the long grass, brothers Pete and John Weninger supply more plate power, and centre fielder Jackie Howard is one of the best base-scramblers in the league. Norbert Korthals has been coming through with some long clouts and Don Wort is steady at the plate.

Classy Clouters Open Richest Golf Tourney

VANCOUVER (CP) — Tough competition faced a field of 110 top golfers today in the second round of the $47,500 British Columbia Centennial Open, Canada's richest golf tournament.

Only four strokes separated the first and 50th placed golfers after Thursday's opening 18-hole round. Most of the pros had to scramble over the 6,505-yard Point Grey course. A few blew to the high 70s.

Two Canadians, a Japanese and a Texan were clustered at the top of the list with four-under-par 68s. Eleven players had 69, 10 had 70 and 13 scored 71s. Sharing the lead were Al Balding and Jerry Magee of Toronto, Koichi Ono of Yokohama, Japan, and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex.

JAPANESE SURPRISE

The biggest surprise was 39-year-old Ono, three-time winner of the Japanese Open who has yet to win on the big circuit. The five-foot-six pro needed only 29 putts as he fired five birdies for nine holes of 36-32. He went over par on only one hie.

Hawkins got his 68 after making two left-handed shots when his ball landed near trees. His 37-31 included five birdies.

Balding, playing in the same threesome with Hawkins, was out of the running for the lead until the last hole when he sank a 15-foot putt for an eagle three. He had nines of 36-32. Magee played a steady 34-34.

Two regulars on the circuit were missing from the second round, cutting the pro field to 105.

SCORECARD WRONG

Bert Weaver, 26-year-old Beaumont, Tex., pro was disqualified from the tournament when his card showed a wrong score for the 18th hole—a birdie four instead of a par five.

Respectable Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif., withdrew after scoring a 77 in the opening round, which he played with a throat infection and a temperature of more than 100.

Thursday's biggest collapse came when perfectionist Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., 1958 Masters champion, followed a one-over-par five on the 14th hole with a two-over-par six on the 16th and a one-over-par on the 17th. He had been three under par before he struck putting trouble.

"Three under going to the 14th, birdie the last hole and finish up with 72," Palmer said after his round. "Some idiot."

LEONARD SHOOT 70

Stan Leonard, 44, a hot local favorite in the tourney, turned in a two-under par 70 and said "It could have been 90 the way I was playing."

Only two strokes separated Leonard from his traditional rival Balding, but there were 11 players in between.

Included in the group with three-under-par 69s were Gene Little of Singing Hills, Calif., 43-year-old veteran Ed (Porky) Oliver of Hesperia, Calif., ex-footballer Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., and 26-year-old Frank Stranahan of Paradise, Fla.

Behind them with 70 were George Bayer of Lemont, Ill., joins close to one-quarter of the Canadian Open champion Wes Ellis of Ridgewood, N.J.; Ken Venturi of San Francisco, and seven others including Leonard.

Low score among the five amateurs was posted by Johnny Russell of Vancouver, former B.C. Willingdon Cup representative, who had nine-hole scores of 38-33 for a 71 total.

Most players expressed satisfaction with the course, although some complained of the side-hill position chosen for the cup on the 10th green.

City Approving Club Grooving, But Not Moving

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington baseball situation has suddenly become the Minneapolis middle.

Just when it seemed the Senators were on the verge of seeking a transfer to the Minnesota city, President Calvin Griffith stepped in Thursday night and said it wasn't so.

Griffith said the club's board of directors would make no move toward Minneapolis at a meeting today.

"There definitely will not be any vote taken on moving the franchise," he said.

His statement came in the face of widespread reports that action would be taken on two fronts today to pave the way for Washington to try for relocation in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis city council is expected to approve at a meeting today a $9,000,000 bond issue to finance expansion of the city's stadium from 21,000 to 42,000 seating capacity.

A Christmas present in August...

Here's a novel way of putting money in your pocket when you need it most... in Winter... when Christmas presents, extra winter clothing and peak heating bills all make heavy inroads on your purse.

It's called the Inland Natural Gas EQUAL-PAY plan... a new method of budget billing that allows you to spread your natural gas payments equally over the entire year. Here's how the plan works...

An estimate is made of your yearly heating costs. This sum is divided by ten to establish an average monthly payment. The last two months are reserved for adjustments. If your monthly payment was estimated too low, you will be billed to adjust for under-payment. If it was too high, you will have a credit balance at the end of the year.

The EQUAL-PAY plan is just one more reason why you should convert to thrifty... modern... natural gas. But do it now. You can only enjoy the benefits of budget billing this season if you sign before September 30. For details just call in or telephone this office.

Packers Front Is Quiet, But Have No Fear, Dad

By GEORGE INGLIS
(Courier Sports Editor)

In three short weeks, the Packers will take to the ice. For those of you sceptics who feel that nothing much has been done in the way of obtaining players, rest easy. There hasn't been much in the way of ballyhoo, but turn the files back to last fall, and you will find the same thing. After all, there is very little use of making a name like a champion, then turning out to be a chump—ask any B.C. Lions' member.

Actually, the names that the public seek should start popping out for the remainder of the time between the beginning of September and the start of the hockey season in the middle of October. The Packers plan to have everybody on deck by that time but player negotiations being what they are, can promise nothing.

The golden silence preserved by the local executive, with the odd brief outburst like the acquisition of Ron Leopold or Gerry Goyer, combined with the talented guys you know as your neighbors, actually adds up to good news, compared with other camps in the valley, where Ken McKenzie and his chiefly remaining of last year's powerhouse are getting ready for the new season, there is a great problem over the only guy that the Chiefs had announced as a new signing so far—Ted Lebeda, of Vernon by way of the Kootenays. Seems McKenzie and his last year buddy, coach-manager George Agar of Vernon, haven't arrived at an amicable release point over the big rear guard.

And from Vernon, there seems to be nothing very definite yet, since George is having a bit of trouble getting the financial set-up of this year's club ratified. He hasn't had much success starting up a co-op this year, and can't induce players to come in try out without having anything to dangle in front of them in the way of a proposed salary structure. He will have to try to get the club operating on the old community basis, or get a solid sponsor to take over the reins as a lessee, similar to Kamloops.

Down south, Pat Coburn has signed Yogi Kraeger, doughty old blue-line warrior of Trail and Rossland fame, and a centre ice man by the name of Buck Foresland, who labored long for the Owen Sound Mercury, with a reasonably good record, and was out of hockey last year.

Add this to a purported list of three goaltenders, and you have the Peach City spoils so far.

By comparison, the Packers are holding their own.

ALL IS QUIET ON THE RUSSIAN FRONT, but the irons are being shaped ready for the final molding as soon as the lads over the border of the USSR come through with final arrangements.

As it stands to date, very few things are known finally, but Dr. M. J. Butler, chairman of the civic fund-raising committee, and Okanagan representative behind the scenes on the working quietly but industriously behind the scenes on the proposition of raising the body for the junket. The plans he outlined in confidence are adequate, comprehensive, and relatively easy to perpetrate when the right moment arrives.

To date, however, neither Robert Lebel of Montreal, president of the CAHA, nor George Dudley, the secretary-manager, have had very much other than the initial proposal that the Russian hockey team's exhibition tour of eastern Canada be returned in kind by a Canadian club this November.

Lebel, realizing the large amount of interest in eastern Canadian newspapers and radio circles over the trip, has made overtures through Dudley to have the dates set back to Dec. 1-15, rather than the fortnight previous, when Grey Cup fills the minds of every sports writer and the columns of every sports page. To date, however, there has been no confirmation of the Russian feeling on a change of dates, so the original dates still stand until altered.

The roster of the Canadian team, named in the annual CAHA conclave as the Packers, is to be composed of 18 players, the standard number for an amateur club under CAHA rules, and accompanied by a spare goalie. Due to the CAHA ruling of carrying only 15 men, the Packers will have to sweeten the pot by three for the trip, and the CAHA have promised every assistance in this sweetening job, which will have to be done with the finest of ingredients.

The tentative route calls for a visit to Moscow, Leningrad, and a third point this side of the Iron Curtain (Oslo, Stockholm or Helsinki). The arrangements call for the CAHA to pay the fare of the Canadian team over to Moscow, kit them with sweaters, socks and the inevitable toque.

The Packers will have to take care of providing hockey players, equipment, training camp and any of the normal expenditures surrounding the launching of a senior hockey club into the season. Any of this expense attributable to the Russian hockey tour will be raised by the civic committee, the rest will be borne in the normal manner by the Packers' executive body.

The Russians will welcome the hockey club to their soil, take over their travel and maintenance expenses, provide them with pocket money, and shoo them back to Canada with fare paid when the trip is over.

And that's about the gist of it to date.

ONE OF THE GREATEST EXPERIENCES in connection with the game of hockey that we have enjoyed to date will culminate tonight, with the Ray Powell Benefit Stag in the Canadian Legion hall.

Those of you who attend, and we know that will be everybody that's anybody, will see an effort that has grown spontaneously from volunteer work and volunteer donations, snowballing from a tentative conversation in a garage a few weeks ago to the point where it is a king-sized bit of organizing on a heart-warming level.

In response to letters informing them of the stag, letters have poured in from every pro club Ray has been affiliated with in his long and starry career, including an exhortation from Billy Reay of Toronto to get well in a hurry.

Many of those wishing to donate have refused to wait until they were approached, but have come forward of their own volition and made their contributions. It has been a wonderful experience, and couldn't happen to a nicer guy.

DON'T YOU FORGET TO TURN OUT TONIGHT.

Phoenix Giants bade a relieved adieu to Salt Lake City Bees for the last time in the 1958 Pacific Coast League campaign last night and the lifted word of thanks to Spokane III that they got out of Utah when they did.

As it was, the Giants were lucky to take leave of Utah with the league lead still in their possession, although their advantage was trimmed to a half-game over San Diego's Padres.

The Bees sent the Giants on their way by handing the Phoenix club its fifth straight defeat, 6-4. The Bees moved up a half-game the easy way when their scheduled contest with the Mariners at Vancouver was washed out.

In other league action last night, the Sacramento Solons shaded Portland's Beavers 2-1 and Seattle Rainiers buried the Spokane Indians 10-2 with a 16-hit attack.

The Bees chased across four runs in the second inning on a walk, a hit batsman, a single, Union club.

an error and Joe Christopher's one-run triple and they were never headed. The Giants managed to tie it up at 4-4 in the top of the seventh but the Bees came back with two of their own in that frame to close out the scoring.

Senators May Crash In Clash With Yanks

The New York Yankees should finally get around to making Washington the first victim of the inevitable in the American League pennant "race" this weekend.

The champs magic number for officially eliminating the last place Senators is three. Any combination of Yankee victories and/or Washington defeats totalling three does the job.

The Yankees open a three-game set at Washington tonight.

There were no games in the American League Thursday.

But if the Senators are doomed to be the first to go, they won't be alone very long. The number is 17 for the Yankees to clinch the pennant over the second-place Chicago White Sox.

The magic numbers that officially eliminate the rest of the league go like this:

Boston, 16; Baltimore, 13; Detroit, 12; Cleveland and Kansas City, 9.

Whitey Ford (14-7) goes tonight against Pete Ramos (11-13) at Washington.

Elsewhere it's Detroit at Chicago, with the Tigers sending Herb Moford (3-6) against Dick Donovan (10-12). Baltimore is at Boston. The Orioles have named Arnie Portocarrero (12-9) against Frank Sullivan (10-7). Cleveland (Gary Bell, 7-8) is at Kansas City (Ned Garver, 11-9).

Pittsburgh's persistent Pirates thunder into 10 telling days in the National League pennant chase tonight, opening a three-game series at Milwaukee with the first-place Braves.

The next 10 days could be thrillers or chillers for the no longer bungling Bucs. At the moment, they're in second place, 7½ games behind the Braves. They stand 7-8 against the Braves with seven games remaining in the season series.

All seven are scheduled for the next 10 days—three at Milwaukee this weekend, four at Pittsburgh next weekend.

BRAVES BEAT GIANTS

The Bucs lost a half game Thursday, but had nothing to say about it. Milwaukee wrapped up a 4-1 series at San Francisco by smacking the third-place Giants 3-0 behind Bob Rush's 10 - hit pitching in the only game scheduled in either league.

It was Rush's seventh victory in 12 decisions.

Rush walked but one and struck out seven while giving up eight singles plus a triple and double to Orlando Cepeda.

The Braves had only six hits-four of them by Red Schoendienst—who doubled home the second run—off loser Johnny Antonelli, now 14-11. Del Crandall's walk and stolen base, triggering errors by catcher Bob Schmidt and center fielder Willie Mays, gave the Braves the run they needed to push the Giants nine games back in the fifth inning.

How Fast Is Fast? Just Ask Ol' Elliott

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—

How fast can Herb Elliott run? That was the question track experts asked today following a world-smashing 3:36 for 1,500 metres by the 20-year-old Australian Thursday.

Many even refused to venture a guess as he preceded his all-time record 1,500 with a 3:54.5 mile at Dublin Aug. 6. The mile is 1,760 yards—1,500 metres is 1,640 yards, one foot, four inches.

Some believe Elliott will be the first to better 3:50 for the mile. He has been under four minutes on eight occasions since bursting into the limelight late last January with a 3:59.4 mile at Melbourne.

"No man must set a limit on his capabilities," he said of himself. "Nobody must be limited by what's around him."

Dr. Roger Bamister, first man to break the four-minute barrier, and John Landy, who lowered the mile record to 3:58, called his 3:54.5 at Dublin "absolutely incredible." But his metric time Thursday was even better. It was equivalent to a mile between 3:53 and 3:54.

GREATEST EVER

"He is the greatest runner I ever saw," said Sweden's Dan Waern, silver medal winner in the recent European Games. "He is able to do the impossible and you can expect everything from him. This was not the last time he will set a world record."

Elliott, whose method of training belies all accepted programs, gave credit to the fans for his record.

"They inspired me," he said. "Their cheers carried me along a time table. I ran to win, not to set a world record."

Elliott, laying back for the first half of the race, whipped through the first 400 metres in :56, the 800 metres in 1:57.5 and 1,200 metres in 2:55. He burned up the track in the last 300 metres with a 40.5 clocking.

He finished 20 metres ahead of Czechoslovakia's Stanislaw Jung, timed in 3:39 as the first five ran the listed world, the equivalent of better than four was minutes for the mile.

New Suit Reduces Childbirth Pangs

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — A plastic decompression suit is being used at Witwatersrand University to speed up labor and minimize the pain of childbirth.

Research workers say decompression lessens pain and benefits the child because of shortened labor and less strain.

Experiments in this direction began when researchers observed the effects of a curare-like drug on the mother's abdomen. Later experiments showed that reduction of atmospheric pressure would facilitate labor. By the end of 1955 these scientists managed to construct a small decompression chamber to cover the front of the abdomen.

The doctors found this reduced the number of contractions required in the first stage of childbirth. In the decompression suit, the expectant mother operates a valve which activates a pump and reduces the atmospheric pressure on her abdomen.

Scientists explained that the abdomen enlarges under decompression. This enlargement relieves muscular pressure on the spine and abdomen, thus minimizing pain.

The researchers found most women are comfortable when pressure is reduced about one pound per square inch below atmospheric pressure. Two pounds below, they say, and the mother feels slightly uncomfortable.

Normal atmospheric pressure, at sea level, is 14.7 pounds per square inch.

The suit, made of chemically treated nylon, was perfected last year. The patient, who uses the suit only during the first stage of childbirth, is seated in a comfortable chair and reduces air pressure when the first pains are felt.

An analysis of cases where the pressure suit was used showed most required less than five hours for the first stage of labor.

In some cases the first stage lasted eight hours and in some even 10 hours, but there was every indication that these would have been prolonged first stages taking upward of 30 hours or more in ordinary circumstances.

Big One Got Away From Mermaid But She Has Other Fish To Fry

TORONTO (CP) — Manitoba's Evelyn Geysen, 19-year-old, arrived here minus a 41-pound trout caught in the province's trout festival. The blonde beauty, who was to have presented the fish to Mayor Nathan Phillips at the CNE, was forced to journey alone when a shipment of dry ice from Winnipeg failed to arrive in time for her air departure from Flin Flon, Man.

But the reputation of Manitoba wasn't lost entirely. Miss Geysen, who is also Miss Brandon, brought along a "share of the north" certificate, a case of rock specimens from Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company, and a letter from Flin Flon Mayor Frank Dembinsky.

Miss Geysen, who competed with a field of 16 in the trout festival to win the trip to Toronto, will be busy for three days on a round of social and CNE activities that includes radio and TV appearances and an introduction to Danny Kaye.

POT-POURRI

By ALICE WINSBY

Whew! Aren't you glad the intensity of the heat and summer activities has moderated a little? This has been the busiest summer on record for most people in our fair city and I'm sure to most parents anyway, the vision of next week with the children back to school and most of the summer guests safely back home, is one almost too delicious to contemplate. Imagine for a moment the wonderful QUIET!

How is your crinoline? If it looks as limp as my purtiest one (and only one), you'll welcome this formula which my younger friends assure me will rejuvenate it completely: Mix one packet of gelatine in a cup of cold water. Dump into a quart of boiling water in fairly large container—and starch. P.S. Let me know how it works because I must do mine when I find time.

Next month all the organizations in town will be having their first meetings of the season. If you have always wanted to join a particular one, watch this page for meeting announcements, then go out and become a member of the club of your choice. There are very few groups where a warm welcome is not extended to new people, and you should have at least one interest you know, away from the ordinary humdrum existence. Give a little of yourself, meet new people, and enrich your life. (Free advice department.)

If you have been seeing B.C. first during the centennial year, you may have travelled to the Cariboo. We did, and came back with a strongly reinforced impression of the vastness of our province, the millions of acres available to immigrants, and a realization of the B.C. potential which is almost overwhelming.

There is some mighty pretty country in them that hills by the way, and did you know that it is still possible to pan gold at the old gold rush days sites?

"Big Enough to Serve You — Small Enough to Know You"

COR. BERNARD AND PANDOSY

KELOWNA

In the reign of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar, Babylonian king, besieged and conquered Jerusalem. He made the king a prisoner, and took some of the vessels of the temple, putting them into the house of his wealth. Daniel refused to eat the king's meat or drink his wine for fear of defilement. He persuaded the king to let the four eat only pulse and drink water for 10 days, and then to test their physical and mental fitness.—Daniel 1:10, 13.

At the end of three years, these four youths were taken before the king by the eunuch. Nebuchadnezzar found them much wiser and more understanding than his magicians and astrologers.—Daniel 1:20. MEMORY VERSE—Rom. 14:12, 13.

P. A. GAGLIARDI TO ATTEND

World Pentecostal Conference To Draw 40 Nations To Toronto

The role of Canada as a bridge between nations will be re-emphasized again in Toronto when delegates from nearly 40 nations will attend the history-making fifth world conference of Pentecostal Churches at the Coliseum Arena, Exhibition Park, September 14 to 21.

Planning to attend is Rev. Cameron Stevenson, pastor of Evangel Tabernacle, 1438 Bertram St., Kelowna, B.C., and the Hon. P. A. Gagliardi, B.C. Minister of Highways.

Rev. Stevenson said the conference "will have overtones of a small United Nations in its racial and political diversity." Reservations have been received from nearly 40 nations, 35 U.S. states and all 10 Canadian provinces.

"Despite the agreement in matters of theology and Christian experience and their spiritual brotherhood, there is a large area of diversity in political and social outlook," said Rev. Stevenson.

A large delegation of negroes from the United States, strong anti-segregationists, will face the opposite extreme—a separatist government party, who will be accompanied by a South African negro who subscribes to the nationalist doctrine of segregation.

This is the first time that such a world-wide conference of the 8,000,000 members of the Pentecostal denomination will be held in North America. Previous conventions were held in Zurich, Switzerland in 1947, Paris, France in 1949, London, England, in 1952, and Stockholm, Sweden, in 1955.

The international convocation will begin with the CBC Trans-Canada "Religious Period" network broadcast originating in Toronto at 11:30-12 noon, daylight saving time.

Broadcaster will be Rev. Thomas Johnstone, recently of North Vancouver, B.C., who, in May, was elected national secretary of educational and home missions department of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada.

The network solist will be Mr. Einar Ekberg, of Stockholm, Sweden, internationally known concert vocalist. Another international broadcast will be aired that night at 10:30 p.m. over 350 stations of the ABC network, when Rev. C. M. Ward, a former Canadian, will be the speaker.

The international event will feature participation of choirs in colorful national costumes of many lands. The convention program includes as many as five services per day. Simultaneous translations, United Nations style, will make it possible for as many as six language groups to participate in the services.

The last Sunday afternoon, September 21, a rally will be held in the grandstand stadium where provision has been made for attendance of 30,000 persons. The speaker will be Rev. Willard T. Cantelon, formerly of Winnipeg, Manitoba, and Nanaimo, B.C.

Prominent figures expected to attend the conference include: Dr. Levi Pethrus, of Stockholm, Sweden, until recently pastor of a famous Philadelphia church, who now heads the largest Protestant church in Europe with nearly 7,000 adult voting members; Rev. E. E. Ericson of Keflavik, Iceland; Rev. Edwin Lorenz, Frankfurt-on-Main, Germany; Dr. Gunnerius Tullafsen, Oslo.

THE GOLDEN TEXT

Daniel's answer to the king: "So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God. Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumbling block or an occasion to fall in his brother's way."—Romans 14:12, 13.

Proverbs Warn About Alcoholism's Problems

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

This lesson might be introduced to the younger classes by stressing the possibility of our influence for good by our reputations.

Dr. Wilbur M. Smith illustrates this in Peabody's Notes by relating a personal story of his boyhood. While he was having his hair cut, his father, whose reputation as a godly man was well known, was being shaved, swathed in towels beyond recognition. Another customer began swearing, but when the head barber whispered to him that Tom Smith was present, the blasphemy stopped at once.

The older classes might begin with the same illustration or add other that the teacher may prefer.

All classes will be interested in the story of Daniel, Jehoiakim was king of Judah, and Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, besieged Jerusalem and conquered it. "And the Lord gave Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he carried into the land of Shinar to the house of his god."—Daniel 1:2.

Then the king commanded the chief of his eunuchs, Ashpenaz, to bring certain of the children of Israel of high lineage, "children in whom was no blemish, but well favored, and skilful in all wisdom, and cunning in knowledge, and such as had ability in them to stand in the king's palace, and whom they might teach the learning and the tongue of the Chaldeans."

Among those the eunuch chose were Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah. They were to feed daily the king's meat and of the wine which he drank to nourish them for three years, then were to stand before the king.

Now Daniel had found favor with the eunuch, who loved him, and Daniel had decided he would not eat the king's food or drink his wine and so defile himself, as he had been strictly brought up.

Diefenbaker To Open United Church Parley

Preparations are being made for the meeting of the United Church's highest court, in Ottawa September 17 to 26. Not since 1936 has the United Church of Canada's General Council met in Canada's capital city.

Presenting the 11 Conferences of the Church from Newfoundland to British Columbia, nearly 450 Commissioners, half of them ministerial, the other half laymen and laywomen, will attend the 10-day session which will be addressed by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

A recommendation that the time has come to renounce all war as an instrument of national policy is contained in a report to be presented to the commissioners.

The lengthy report, which covers a dozen weighty topics including nuclear energy, United States-Canadian relationships, Commonwealth problems, African opportunities, refugees, the threat of war and what should a Christian's attitude be toward war, technical assistance to "have-not" nations, and world food problems is expected to highlight the 10-day debate of the churchmen.

Recent views of the United Church's Moderator, the Right Rev. Dr. James S. Thomson, on the implications of the new powers of nuclear weapons and the function of the Church in relation to peace and war have sparked wide interest in these subjects which are bound to receive serious consideration by the United Church's highest court.

One recommendation will urge that Canadian Indians be encouraged to participate in the life and work of the United Church, and that young Indians with special qualifications should be helped to prepare themselves for leadership in the church.

Aware of hopeful signs of the emergence of an effective leadership of Indians in church life, a commission of the United Church of Canada has been studying the church's Indian work for four years. The commission made its first report at the Windsor General Council, and at Ottawa will present the remainder of its findings.

The United Church of Canada has been co-operating with the Indian Affairs Branch of the federal government in education for many years.

The United Church operates 6 residential schools for Indians. Twenty-six United Church ministers and 25 lay supplies including four Indians are engaged in Indian mission work.

The United Church's responsibility in opening and operating hospitals in home mission areas, and the need of hospital care for the aged and infirm will be discussed by the General Council.

The United Church of Canada today operates 11 hospitals. Last year it paid out $53,000, for operational expenses and $50,000, for capital expenses. Six of the church hospitals are operated by the Board of Home Missions and five by the Woman's Missionary Society.

One of the major recommendations of the Hospital Commission is that stronger local representation should be set up for the operation of all United Church hospitals. The care of the aged and infirm person will also be discussed by General Council. At present all Homes for Senior Citizens operated by the United Church of Canada do not include the care of the ill.

CHURCH ROUNDS

The Sunday School of the First Baptist Church, Ellis Street at Queensway, will recommence their activities on Sunday, September 7, at 9:45 a.m.

British Israel Field Service will hold a public meeting at the Women's Institute Hall, Glenn Avenue, Kelowna, B.C., Thursday evening, September 11, 1958, at 8:00.

Speaker is Mr. J. G. Sproule, Vancouver, B.C., on the subject, "This generation shall not pass."

Services at Peoples Mission on Sunday are at 9:45, 11 a.m. and 7:15 p.m.

Rev. D. M. Taylor, president of Mountain View Bible College, Didsbury, Alberta, will be guest speaker Sunday morning, Sept. 14, at 10:30 a.m. at the Peoples Mission at 6:30 p.m.

The Young People will meet next Tuesday for a social time at their Wood Lake camp site. Cars leave the Peoples Mission at 6:30 p.m.

Daniel's friend agreed to this, and at the end of the 10 days "their countenances appeared fairer and fatter in flesh than all the children which did eat the portion of the king's meat."

When the time had expired when they were to be brought before the king, he was amazed at their wisdom and understanding. He found none like these four youths. They were wiser than all the magicians and astrologers that were in his realm.—Daniel 1:14-21.

In Proverbs we read: "Who hath we? who hath sorrow? who hath contention? who hath bailing? who hath wounds without cause? who hath redness of eyes? They that tarry long at the wine; they that go and seek mixed wine. Look not thou upon the wine when it is red. At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder."

"Yea, thou shalt be as he that lieth down in the midst of the sea, or as he that lieth upon the top of a mast. They have stricken me, shall thou say, and I was not sick; they have beaten me, and I felt it not: when shall I awake?"—Proverbs 23:29-35.

Alcoholism is one of our most serious problems today. Both men and women are victims, and physical and psychological search for reasons for this dreadful disease, for that is what it is. We may read of teenagers who probably think it is smart to drink, which is saddest of all.

We must try to teach our young people to use self-control so that they, like Daniel, who might have been tempted to disobey his Hebrew laws, may practice it and become fine, moral youths and adults.

St. Paul, in his letter to the Romans, says this: "Let us walk honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying. But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make no provision for the flesh, to fulfill the lusts thereof."—Romans 13:13-14.

MEMORY VERSE—"So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God. Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumbling block or an occasion to fall in his brother's way."—Romans 14:12, 13.

Archbishop Will Open New Roman Catholic College At UBC Sept. 9

A new era for Roman Catholic education in B.C. will open September 9 when Canada's apostolic delegate Archbishop Giovanni Panico officially opens St. Mark's College, the fourth theological centre to be located at the University of B.C.

Built at a cost of $500,000, the new college is named for Archbishop William Mark Duke, who has worked toward its establishment for 20 years.

Principal of the College is the Very Reverend Henry Carr, lecturer in classics at UBC, and one of Canada's best known Catholic educators.

The present College will accommodate 50 students and other residential wings will be added in the future. About 1300 Roman Catholic students from all parts of the province are expected to register at UBC this fall, according to College Registrar, Reverend Michael J. Oliver.

Father Carr says he hopes the students at St. Mark's will get the best secular education the province can provide while obtaining the best knowledge of their religion and the good practice of the faith.

Residential students will live in bright two-bed rooms equipped with book shelves and separate desks for studying. A library, common rooms, two committee rooms and kitchenette facilities are other features of the three-story building designed by architect Peter Thornton.

Dominating one wall of the College, which is split into two wings at right angles to one another, is a striking bronze casting of St. Mark and the Lion executed by Lionel Thomas, an instructor in UBC's school of architecture.

Another artist, Paul Huba, has hand-carved the wooden crucifixes which have been erected in classrooms and hallways of the building.

Other priests in residence at the College but lecturing at the university are: Father E. B. Allen, philosophy; Father T. J. Hanrahan, history; and Father G. McGuigan, economics.

Territorial Hotel Bills Excitement

FORT SIMPSON, N.W.T. (CP) — Charlie Hansen admits that running a hotel in the Northwest Territories is not without its exciting moments. He owns the hotel in this town, 600 miles northeast of Edmonton on the Mackenzie River.

When Mr. Simpson Hotel took over the old Fort Simpson Hotel last fall, there were only a few old iron beds and some rock-hard mattresses, along with bureau and mirrors for every room.

He waited for the spring break-up when he expected the furniture to be delivered by riverboat. But when the first boats came down the Mackenzie without effects, he immediately wired the agent at Hay River, 225 miles southeast of here.

Two days later when Mr. Hansen was working in his kitchen—he does his own cooking—some one knocked on the door. Outside were two trucks with bedroom furniture.

Before he had time to wonder at his luck a bill was handed to him—for one shipment of beds and mattresses dispatched at air cargo rates from Hay River on the south shore of Great Slave Lake.

A washing machine was also needed, and when another boat arrived Mr. Hansen was greatly relieved to see a big box bearing his name.

"That's my washing machine, isn't it?" he asked the oater purser.

The purser scanned his list.

"No," he replied. "That's your jukebox."

Mr. Hansen then remembered visiting an Edmonton store last fall, eyeing some jukeboxes and leaving without reaching a decision whether to buy one of the machines. That is how Fort Simpson got the only jukebox between Hay River and Inuvik, the New Akavik townsite in the Mackenzie River Delta.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By ESTRELLITA

FOR TOMORROW

This day's stellar influences favor outdoor activities, travel, sports and hobbies. Most persons will be in highly congenial mood and should have a really enjoyable day.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates a pleasant year. Job interests show all signs of prospering but, for the greatest success, you may have to work a little harder and take on some additional responsibilities during the next four months. Excellent aspects govern your personal life and, before the end of the year, you should have made many new friends and valuable contacts. Don't spoil happy home conditions by outbursts of temper in mid-

September, and do look for some excellent news late in December.

Where finances are concerned, Virgoans are among the best-aspected of all Signs during the period of late 1948-early 1950. Do not, however, in a spirit of optimism, offset gains by extravagance or speculation. This is a period in which to think of the future, to lay a good financial foundation for the years ahead. Increased earnings are a possibility in September or October. Those in creative fields will be under exceptionally generous influences as of early September; should find inspiration and imagination at a high peak for at least seven months following.

A child born on this day will be warm-hearted, generous and endowed with exceptionally good taste in both dress and manners.

How You Should Handle A Bleeding Emergency

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

It is extremely difficult to explain how to halt severe bleeding without demonstrating the process in person, by photographs or by sketches.

Unfortunately, none of these methods is available to me in my discussions with you via this newspaper column.

Yet I feel duty bound to try to explain as well as I can under this handicap how you can control serious bleeding. You never know when you might be confronted by an emergency, and even a little knowledge may save a life.

COULD BE FATAL

Bleeding can be very dangerous. If more than a quart of blood is lost, it might be fatal. First thing to do is to remove enough clothing so you can see the entire injury. Next, try stopping the flow of blood by direct pressure on the wound. Use a thick pad of sterile gauze if you have one available.

If you don't, use a clean, ironed handkerchief, freshly opened. Place it over the entire wound and press firmly. Sometimes this pressure is enough to permit a clot to form and the bleeding will stop.

APPLY PRESSURE

If the bleeding persists, you might try applying pressure to certain places where the artery crosses a bone or lies close to one.

For bleeding in the region of the temple or forehead, apply pressure just in front of the ear against the skull.

If the bleeding is from face wounds, apply pressure along the edge of the lower jaw about an inch forward from the angle of the jaw and in front of the ear.

For a throat wound, place the ends of your fingers in the hollow beside the windpipe and the thumbs on the back of the neck. Then squeeze and press inward against the backbone.

BEHIND COLLARBONE

When the blood is coming from the shoulder, armpit or entire arm, pressure should be applied in the hollow behind the collarbone against the top rib.

For bleeding of the lower arm, grasp the arm one hand width below the armpit and press the artery against the arm bone with the fingers.

When blood is spurting from the leg, thigh or foot, apply pressure in the middle of the groin with the heel of the hand against the pelvic bone.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

J.B.: Can you tell me what is the best treatment for a peptic ulcer?

Answer: Most doctors feel that one of the best treatments is a nutritious and well-balanced bland diet. Antacids are also of great value.

Since serious complications can result, a physician should be consulted as soon as symptoms of peptic ulcer appear.

COSTLY JUNK

KENILWORTH, England (CP) — When Reg Shenton moved from his Warwickshire town he left his auto beside a road where it had broken down. Now, 12 months later, he has been fined £3 and ordered to remove it.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

QUIZ

You are South, neither side vulnerable. The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1♠	Pass	1♥	Pass
2♥	Pass	2♠	Pass

What would you now bid with each of the following four hands?

- ♠KQ83 ♥AJS ♦J94 ♣K74
- ♠J9753 ♥86 ♦KQ74 ♣A74
- ♠AJ752 ♥KQ84 ♦9 ♣A63
- ♠K9862 ♥5 ♦KQ74 ♣K75

1. Three notrump. At the point partner opened the bidding with a diamond, we already knew this was a game-going hand. We had the values and the distribution to jump directly to two notrump, but chose instead to first mention the spade suit in case the best game contract might turn out to be spades.

If we were to bid only two notrump over two hearts, North would have no way of knowing that our hand constituted an opening bid by itself. A two notrump bid would be proper if, for example, the ace of hearts were a low heart. The way to identify the surplus ace is to skip one level and jump to three notrump.

2. Three diamonds. Before discussing this bid it might be best to first decide what kind of hand North has shown by his two bids to date. Since he opened with a diamond and followed our spade response with two hearts, thus bidding his suits in reverse order, we are entitled to assume he has a good hand and not a minimum opening bid. Reverse bids indicate two things: that the first suit bid is of greater length than the second one, and that the overall value of the hand is at least 17 points.

Since our first response was based on minimum values — 6 points — we should do what we can to slow down the bidding. A mere preference bid of three diamonds conforms to the actual value of our hand and denies surplus values above a minimum spade response. A two notrump bid over two hearts would be more encouraging towards game and should therefore be avoided.

3. Three clubs. There should be no doubt that six hearts can be made in view of North's strong bidding opposite our excellent supporting hand. But instead of leaping directly to the slam, we first show the club control in case partner is willing to go to seven after we jump to six hearts on the next bid.

4. Four diamonds. A three diamond bid would show only a preference for diamonds as against hearts, but would not show the extra support we have for a diamond contract. Because our hand is unbalanced, and partner's hand probably is also, the possibility of playing for game in notrump is disregarded.

Thermonuclear Machine Completes First Year

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

HARWELL, England (AP)—Zeta is round and chubby and one year old.

As babies go, that's not remarkable. But Zeta happens to be a particularly renowned infant of a new age. Zeta is a fusion of thermonuclear machine.

Nearly a year ago Zeta went to work, hissing like air escaping from a punctured tire, and for flashes of seconds fused hydrogen atoms to produce energy.

It marked man's first real step toward taming the fury of the H-bomb reaction in order to draw unlimited electric power from hydrogen atoms in the seas.

IMITATES SUN

Zeta did not quite duplicate the action of the sun which produces boundless energy from hydrogen atoms. But it was a start toward imitating the sun.

H-power fusion could keep civilization running for millions of years because there is so much hydrogen fuel in the oceans. And mankind is going to need it—some day we will run out of coal and oil and firewood, and we could run short of uranium. Then H-power could be the great salvation to keep industry running and homes and schools and streets lighted.

On Zeta's first birthday there are some optimistic hopes that H-power may be achieved within 10 years. More conservative guesses are 20 to 40.

Zeta was not really howling success. Her name, in fact, means zero energy thermonuclear apparatus—and Zeta lived up to it. She produced only a millionth of the energy which it took to make her fuse atoms in the first place.

But she was first in fusing even a few atoms for the British researchers. Some weeks later American scientists performed the same feat with their "Permapatron"—so named in honest doubt that it would work.

NATIONS TO SPEAK

Soviet scientists say they've done about the same thing, but haven't given details.

All three countries are expected to speak up in the United Nations atomic-for-peace conference starting soon in Geneva, and to display models of a variety of fusion machines aimed at doing the trick.

The job is as difficult as it is vital to mankind's future.

The sun steadily produces energy and heat by fusing atoms of hydrogen into atoms of helium. In the process, a bit of the mass of the hydrogen atoms is changed into prodigious amounts of energy.

H-bombs do this too—but when one goes off, no apparatus is left to turn the heat into electrical power.

The problems are to control the fusion and draw off the heat to make steam to turn generators to produce electricity.

It-fusion machines like Zeta heat up the hydrogen with great jolts of electricity. In Zeta the gas is contained inside a big, hollow, doughnut-shaped tube.

Instead of ordinary hydrogen the machine uses deuterium—double-weight hydrogen. Deuterium is not too hard nor too expensive to get from ordinary sea water.

Zeta jolts the gas with current of 230,000 amperes lasting a few thousandths of a second. The hydrogen heats up to 5,000,000 degrees centigrade. This makes atoms race about at tremendous speed so they begin colliding violently enough for some of them to merge or fuse.

The electrical heating sets up a magnetic field which compresses the deuterium gas. This makes the gas still hotter, which is all to the good.

COLUMB WRIGGLES

But the compressed column of gas wriggles like an angry snake. If the gas touches the walls of the tube it loses precious heat and might also do some damage to the walls.

So a magnetic field is applied from the outside to keep the gas steady. British scientists are concentrating on one principal method of magnetic confinement, while United States scientists are trying four different approaches simultaneously.

This summer Zeta was beefed up for more experiments at higher temperature, perhaps 10,000,000 degrees.

That's still far, far too little to produce useful power. So a really muscular Zeta II is being built to create temperatures of 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 degrees, holding it for one-tenth of a second at a time.

Britain started earlier on H-fusion than the U.S., and for a time both carried on this work in secret. Now both countries have removed most of the secrecy bars and are working together, sharing research progress.

LARGE MACHINE

One main advantage of Zeta is that it is a big machine, says Harwell's Dr. Alan Matterson. It is partially surrounded by laboratories which can stick instruments into the doughnut, or peer through quartz windows, to learn what is going on. The tube measures 10 feet across with a diameter inside of more than three feet.

Zeta and other fusion machines produce such heat that they strip the hydrogen atoms of their electrons. The gas becomes a writhing plasma.

This plasma is the kind of stuff of which stars are made; it is the material making up most of all the real matter in the universe.

Scientists have never been able to study it at first-hand like this. So Zeta and her sisters and cousins also offer a new chance to learn some secrets of the sun and stars.

Toronto Stock Mart Reverses Up-Trends

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market reversed its upward trend of the last two sessions Thursday, sliding down amid profit-taking in moderately active trading.

Western oils were the big losers off more than 1 1/4 points, their sharpest single session drop in almost three weeks. Industrials were down almost one point while base metals dipped more than one-half. Golds were a few decimal points off.

International Nickel was one of the big losers, down 2 1/4 at 80 1/4, wiping out a two point gain recorded Wednesday.

Senior mines with copper interests generally were weaker following an announced 1/4-cent-a-pound cut in the custom smelter price of copper in New York.

Noranda dipped 1/2 at 45 1/2 while Inco and Hudson Bay each were off 1/4.

Golds eased as juniors lost in a five-cent range. Hollinger added 1/4 but Kerr-Addison was off 1/4. Most seniors were unchanged. Western oils slid back after two sessions of gains. Profit-taking affected the seniors with Hudson's Bay and Home Oil B each off 3/4 and Pembina 1/4. Pacific Petroleum was down 1/4 at 19 1/4.

Famed Career Of Discovery Ends At 27

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

BALTIMORE (AP)—Discovery, the first horse bought by Alfred G. Vanderbilt and which carried him to the top in racing, was sent to his death Thursday at the age of 27.

The mercy killing at Vanderbilt's Sagamore Farm ended an association of 25 years. Discovery was the grandfather of Vanderbilt's famous Native Dancer.

Vanderbilt bought Discovery in 1933 for $25,000. His racing stable earned $303,605 in 1935. Discovery accounted for $102,545 of it. Discovery was admired more for his all-round ability than for his spectacular record. He had the misfortune to race as a three-year-old the same time as the great Cavalcade and finished second to him four times. He won at distances from 5 1/2 furlongs to 1 1/4 miles.

Bud Stotler, who trained him, once said of Discovery: "The good Lord makes one like him every 50 years or so, and sometimes not even that often."

Danny Kaye Seeks Peace Among Kids

TORONTO (CP)—Comedian Danny Kaye says world peace could depend on how well the world's children are treated and understood.

He told a directors luncheon at the Canadian National Exhibition the promotion of good will and understanding starts with children and spreads to adults.

"If we try to make the world safe for our children and better for them we can teach them understanding and good will. When they grow up they will retain much of it and in turn pass it on to their children."

Kaye, in Toronto to appear at the CNE grandstand show, has travelled through Asia and Africa promoting the work of the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

PEACHES

had a series of conferences in Ottawa with the horticultural council and representatives of the canning industry. The board announced it was prepared to support the peach and apricot crops in B.C. and peaches and cherries in Ontario.

In the absence of statistical values on fresh sales, this support would have been available through that part of the crop to be processed. Mr. Walrod explained. "It was left to the canners and growers to work out a practical formula satisfactory to all concerned. The formula was to have provided the growers with a basic price and at the same time allow the canners to meet competition from imported canned products."

Repeated attempts by B.C. Tree Fruits and the B.C. canners failed to produce a formula acceptable to the board. Mr. Walrod said, "as the price declared by the canners to be necessary to meet competition was $56.17 per ton."

In Ontario, it was reported, growers are speeding up the deliveries to canneries, now that Ottawa has agreed to a guarantee price of $83 a ton.

Ontario canners have already agreed to pay growers an initial price of $70 a ton and the balance later depending on how they are able to dispose of surplus production. The canners have a carryover of 20,000,000 canned pounds from last year. If the final payment to growers falls below $83 a ton, the government will make up the difference.

Victoria Papers Hike Prices

VICTORIA (CP)—Home delivery prices of Victoria's two daily newspapers, The Times and The Colonist, will be increased 50 cents to $2 a month, effective Sept. 1.

The newspapers, both owned by Victoria Press Limited, said the increase is the first since 1951, forced by steady rises in costs, labor, newsprint and production facilities.

There will be no change in the single-copy price, 10 cents daily and 14 cents on Saturday.

Nanaimo School Damaged By Fire

NANAIMO (CP)—A four-hour fire of undetermined origin destroyed the cafeteria at Nanaimo Senior High School early today and caused extensive damage to two gymnasiums.

Damage was estimated at $150,000.

School principal J. Litch said there appeared to be no necessity to delay opening of the fall term. Prompt action by the fire department in closing fire doors saved classrooms and offices.

The school was built in 1952 at a cost of more than $1,000,000.

Larson, 19, of El Monte, Calif., became the first swimmer to break 60 seconds when he swam the 100 metres in 59.9 last Saturday.

INTEGRATION

of Colored People, and J. Lee Rankin, solicitor-general of the United States.

On the other side was Richard C. Butler, lawyer for the Little Rock school board.

Although the debate was carried on for the most part in calm there was in the background the anti-integration mob violence in Little Rock last year, and President Eisenhower's use of federal troops to enforce court-ordered integration.

OPPOSES DELAY
Marshall, opposing any delay in readmitting seven Negro pupils to the school, said the courts must not give ground before that kind of violence.

"You don't close the banks," he told the justices. "You put the robbers in jail."

But Butler said "there would be troops back in Little Rock to maintain law and order unless public school desegregation is delayed."

At another point, Butler brought up Eisenhower's press conference statement Wednesday about favoring a slower pace in integration efforts.

"That is exactly the position the Little Rock school board is taking," Butler said.

HELP NOT SOUGHT

However, Rankin fought the idea of delay, saying the Little Rock school board had not sought either court action or the help of local law enforcement agencies to thwart troublemakers at Central High.

Rankin's opposition to delay at Little Rock appeared to conflict with Eisenhower's general remark about a slower approach. But James Hagerty, White House press secretary, said there was no divergence of views. Hagerty said Eisenhower specifically approved the justice department argument in advance.

Marshall and Butler differed sharply on whether the Negro pupils would suffer if they weren't allowed into Central High. SEES NO LOSS

Butler said they "would not be deprived of anything tangible" because they could return to a Negro school.

But Marshall contended that denial of immediate integration would destroy the constitutional rights of Negro children and be even "more destructive of democratic government."

After Butler appealed for "patience and forbearance," Chief Justice Earl Warren said he believes every member of the high court recognizes "the very great problem your school board has."

But, Warren asked, "can we afford to defer a program of this kind merely because there are elements in a community that will commit violence to prevent it from going into effect?"

GETS NEWSPAPER POST

Canada Will Not Become Involved In China Dispute

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has made clear Canada will not become involved in the dispute between the Nationalist and Communist Chinese over the islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

Foreign Affairs Minister Smith said in the Commons that the Canadian government "has no commitment to involve itself in the dispute over this territory."

Mr. Smith said "grave consequences" may ensue if the Chinese Communists resort to force to settle the dispute.

There had been "disturbing reports" of increasing Communist activity in the area.

The United States had a mutual defence treaty with the Chinese Nationalists and the U.S. would decide the nature of its obligations.

The stand announced by Mr. Smith was the same as that taken in 1955 by the previous Liberal administration when the Quemoy-Matsu problem became critical.

Beirut Rebels Demand Seats In Government

BEIRUT (AP)—Lebanon's rebel leaders have demanded that president-elect Fuad Chehab include some of their number in his new government.

They also demanded that he arrange an immediate evacuation of American troops "without relying on any international arrangement."

Thirty chiefs of the insurgent movement met for six hours in the gun-ringed Basta headquarters of Saeb Salam here.

Four Arrested For Disturbance

SHELTEN BAY, Que. (CP)—Four men were arrested here during the weekend in connection with disturbances which rocked this north shore shipping centre Saturday night.

The 22 police officers posted here—most of whom were brought in because of a labor dispute—were to be reinforced Tuesday by a provincial police sergeant and 10 constables from Quebec City.

Complete details of the Saturday disturbance were lacking but police said 26 strikers involved in a labor dispute with a trucking company—Portier Transport Ltd.—threw rocks through windows at Mr. Portier's home, cruised through this community with their car horns blowing and clashed with police.

Report BCFA Wants Boost Milk Price

VANCOUVER (CP)—It was reported Thursday night the B.C. Federation of Agriculture has requested the provincial Milk Board for a retail price increase of two cents a quart.

Board chairman E. C. Carr said the agency will "consider" the request within the next three weeks. Present retail price of milk is 22 cents a quart.

In Kelowna, milk is 25c a quart. Any recommendation the board makes must be approved by the B.C. government.

The Milk Board controls retail prices in the Vancouver district, Vancouver Island and the Kamloops and Okanagan areas.

Milk producers said an increase was made necessary by higher distribution and feed costs. There is a shortage of hay because of the dry summer in B.C.
